Property Description

- Pine and Marín wood farm, trees nearly ready for harvest - Three natural springs on the property - Located near San Vito / 7 Colinas, close to La Amistad National Park - Option to purchase with nearby coffee farm for a combined investment - Investment Opportunity - This property offers multiple possibilities: sustainable forestry, eco-friendly projects, or long-term land banking. With natural resources and strategic location near a national park, it holds both environmental and financial value. Peter's Opinion This farm is a smart, affordable investment for buyers who want to combine land ownership with natural resources. The timber is close to harvest, the water sources are a valuable asset, and the land itself provides flexibility — whether kept as forestry, developed into an eco-project, or held for long-term appreciation. It also pairs well with the nearby coffee farm for those seeking a larger land portfolio.
